Sir:

AMENDMENT IN RESPONSE TO SEPTEMBER 23, 2003 COMMUNICATION

This Amendment is in response to a September 23, 2003 Communication issued by the U.S. Patent Office alleging that applicants Request for Continued Examination (RCE) filed March 21, 2003 is not fully responsive to the December 23, 2002 final Office Action because the most recently added claims 79-100 are directed to a non-elected invention involving a method of inhibiting the attachment of hepatitis C virus onto a cell or of preventing the infection of a cell by a hepatitis C virus, which comprises contacting the cell with an effective amount of a compound which inhibits the binding of hepatitis C virus envelope E2 protein to a cellular protein associated with hepatitis C virus attachment onto cells identified by the recited steps, where virtually nothing is known about the structural or chemical features of the compound.
